An aerial photograph of Lima, Peru, showing a coastal highway, cliffs, and the ocean. The highway is a multi-lane road with white lane markings, curving along the coast. Several cars are visible on the road. To the left of the highway is a steep, reddish-brown cliffside with some green vegetation. To the right is the ocean with waves breaking on a sandy beach. In the background, there are several modern high-rise buildings on a hillside. The sky is overcast with some light clouds.
